

"CORE is a lifeline for me."

UPCEA MEMBER

The CORE community helped me solve complex problems, identify new directions, and prevent misinformation.

Evan M. Silberman
Sr. Director of Online Learning
NYU's Stern School of Business

I use CORE to connect with peers around shared experiences, challenges, opportunities and to explore the current state of affairs for our profession. The discourse in CORE is reflective of the current trends in our field, and I am able to reach deep into topics of interest and converse with subject matter experts that wouldn't otherwise be available to me. Topics of interest for me include OPMs, tools and technologies, leadership, mental health, COVID, and remote work. The conversations are relevant, timely, and meaningful.

CORE is a great way to expand your network and build relationships that will only serve your success.

Collaborative Online Relationships (CORE)