

INSTITUTIONAL MEMBER PROFILE

UPCEA Membership's contribution to the success of my college:

"UPCEA colleagues readily share best practices and lessons learned without hesitation."

- UPCEA is the “Consumer Reports” of the online and professional continuing education space.
- UPCEA membership is of great value for my staff who not only attend the annual conference, webinars and online workshops, but share their expertise through talks and presentations.
- The UPCEA Marketing, Enrollment Management, and Student Success (MEMS) Conference is of exceptional value to my staff. It is timely and relevant, especially as universities experience declining enrollments. The continuing education space is primed for growth.

"In my opinion, UPCEA is the #1 organization for online and professional continuing education professionals in the country."

J. Kim McNutt
Dean, College of Continuing and Professional Education
California State University

Kim is now in his eleventh year as Dean of the College of Continuing and Professional Education. As a first-generation college graduate, he remains deeply committed to expanding access for underserved populations, including adult, returning, and non-traditional students.
